FINAL PLANS SUBMITTED

By Jack Johnson
jack@oxfordnewspapers.co.uk

DETAILED plans for the £500million redevelopment of Westgate Shopping Centre will be considered by Oxford City Council at the end of next month.

The Westgate Oxford Alliance, a joint venture between property companies the Crown Estate and Land Securities, submitted a reserved matters application to the city council on Friday October 17.

And the plans, which include 70 new shops, a John Lewis department store, cafes, restaurants and leisure facilities, are now under public consultation for six weeks.

The city council's West Area Planning Committee will determine the alliance's plans at a meeting on November 25.

Leader Bob Price said he was pleased by the alliance's consultation on the plans, which has included several showings at the shopping centre off Bonn Square.

He continued: "I am very impressed by the quality of what they have produced.

"I think it will make a huge difference to the city.

"What has been very impressive is the way the Westgate Oxford Alliance has consistently talked to people, to the county council and bus companies about transport and they have really produced something of the highest quality."

Plans also include open and covered public squares, a two-storey basement car park, cycle parking, 59 new homes off Abbey Place and the retention of the Oxford Central Library.

Cllr Price added: "It is a potential asset to the city and it will really change that aspect of Oxford for the better.

"The combination of the nice new public spaces together with the architecture and much improved access for cyclists will make a big difference."

The West Area Planning Committee granted outline planning permission this year.

The shopping centre will be expanded into four different buildings with a mix of covered streets, arcades, lanes and squares also included in plans.

Members of the public will be able to access the centre from 11 different entrances.

Sera Fuge, development manager for the alliance, said the submission of the application was a "major step forward".

She added: "We are delighted to have submitted our reserved matters for the redevelopment of the Westgate Centre, which has been subject to a rigorous public consultation programme."

Oxfordshire County Council leader Ian Hudspeth, who is overseeing various transport developments, including at Frideswide Square and the southern by-pass, was delighted with Westgate's progression.

He said: "The commitment to the prosperous future of Oxford that is shown by the Westgate Oxford Alliance through their plans are matched by the county council's programme of investment in the city's transport infrastructure.

"I am pleased that we are now at the next stage of the planning process for what will be a very exciting prestige development for the city."

Building work is expected to start in early 2015 for an autumn 2017 opening.

Blenheim Palace duke passes away

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

THE Duke of Marlborough died last week aged 88 after dedicating more than 40 years of his life to preserving Blenheim Palace in Woodstock.

John George Vanderbilt Henry Spencer Churchill the cousin of former Prime Minister Winston Churchill died peacefully on October 16.

He inherited the dukedom from his father John Albert William Spencer Churchill in 1972 and was the 11th Duke of Marlborough.

His funeral is to be held tomorrow.

The trustees of Blenheim Palace confirmed last week his eldest son Charles James Spencer-Churchill, the Marquess of Blandford, who was born in 1955 will succeed him as the 12th Duke.

Blenheim Palace declined to comment but issued a statement on its website.

It said "After inheriting the dukedom on the death of his father in 1972 the Duke devoted his life to the preservation of the Palace for future generations.

"His achievement was in succeeding in maintaining and improving his estate for the necessity of maintaining a World Heritage site whilst balancing the needs of the modern day visitor."

During his governance of Blenheim the 11th Duke introduced the Pleasure Gardens, including a railway, maze and butterfly house and also set up the Churchill Exhibition.

He also restored his father's private gardens in 2004 as part of the tercentenary celebrations of the Battle of Blenheim in 1704 that saw the first Duke of Marlborough lead British Dutch and Austrian troops to victory over French and Bavarian soldiers.

The 11th Duke also hosted sporting, cultural and charity events at the palace including the Blenheim Horse Trials and the Game Fair.

The palace's statement continued. "The trustees of Blenheim Palace would like to confirm that Charles James Spencer-Churchill, formerly known as the Marquis of Blandford has inherited his father's titles and Blenheim Palace will become his family home.

"The trustees and staff at Blenheim look forward to working with him to continue the legacy of the 11th Duke in preserving and enhancing the Blenheim Palace World Heritage site for the benefit of future generations."

Blenheim Palace was opened in 1722 and was inscribed as a World Heritage Site in 1987 while the management of the palace was passed to a board of trustees in 2003.

The palace, park and gardens were closed last Friday and the palace and gardens will be so again tomorrow as a mark of respect.

EDL leader back in prison

THE former leader of the English Defence League (EDL) has been forced to cancel his appearance at the Oxford Union this evening because he is in prison.

Tommy Robinson, who led anti-Islamic group the EDL between 2004 and 2013 was due to speak at the Union in Frewin Court from 7pm.

Mr Robinson was sentenced in January to 18 months in prison for mortgage fraud but was released in June under licence.

However Mr Robinson tweeted on Tuesday that he would not be appearing at the Union because he had been recalled back to prison for "spouting to a death threat on Twitter."

Mr Robinson tweeted from his account: "I was going to speak at the Oxford Union this Thursday exposing police persecution and tactics for the past five years.

"All this to prevent the facts on Thursday."

Almost 200 people had signed an open letter from Oxford Unite Against Fascism (UAF) calling for the union to cancel its invitation to Mr Robinson.

Oxford University academics and students are among those to sign the petition as well as city councillors, trade union leaders and anti-racist campaigners.

Mr Robinson left the EDL in 2013 but Ian McKendrick from Oxford UAF said he has shown "no convincing sign of an abandonment of his view that Islam is the problem."

Mr McKendrick added. "By inviting Tommy Robinson the Oxford Union is contributing to a climate of Islamophobia which only encourages racism and Islamophobia and gives confidence for fascists to come out onto the streets of Oxford."

Congestion concerns halt roundabout work

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

MAJOR work to improve one of Oxford's busiest roundabouts has been put on hold until the New Year after concerns over more traffic congestion in the city.

The Plain roundabout is to be revamped and resurfaced for pedestrians and cyclists as part of £1.3million works by Oxfordshire County Council.

However, the scheme, which was due to start on Monday October 20 will now begin after Christmas due to concerns of further congestion in Oxford.

Motorists are already facing backlogs on the southern by-pass where a contra-flow is in place due to the works at Kennington and Hinksey Hill roundabouts, as well as ongoing resurfacing roadworks on Loudon Road in Headington and preparation work around Frideswide Square - for which the main revamp work is due to start in February.

It is unknown when the works will now start but part of the scheme that involves changing the traffic light timing at Longwall Street off the High Street, which leads up to the Plain, has been carried out.

County council leader Ian Hudspeth says he hopes commuters welcome the news.

He continued: "Because of the concerns people have raised about congestion on the roads we have decided to postpone work on the Plain roundabout until after Christmas.

"The more disruptive phase of this scheme was always planned to take place after Christmas.

"However although the impact of the first phase on the carriageway would have been small we know any additional impact could have a major knock on effect to the current situation.

"The work must be done but we have decided to look for a way to do it all after Christmas when the work at Kennington will be complete and the busy Christmas shopping period is out of the way."

Work includes widening of footpaths, a raised junction, narrowing of carriageways, an the roundabout and an early release at the lights for east bound cyclists by Magdalen College, High Street.

Cllr Hudspeth added: "Work is progressing at Kennington and I am looking forward to the contraflow coming off at the end of November - I am sure everyone is looking forward to this.

"When that happens there will be more capacity on the roads and the improvements we have been working on there will also have a beneficial effect."

Christmas light festivals planned for city

• Flashback: Last year's Christmas Light Festival saw hundreds of people take over St Giles

THREE groups in Oxford have been awarded funding by the city's Christmas Light Festival to help put together performances across next month's three-day event.

The Ark T Centre in Crowell Road, Magdalen Road Studios in partnership with the Pegasus Theatre and Arts at the Old Fire Station in George Street with Oxford Playhouse will receive grants.

Community groups in Oxford applied for funding to create their own event for the festival, which runs from November 21 to 23.

Oxford City Council's board member for culture and communities, Christine Simm said: "It is very important that local communities have the support to realise new ideas and have the opportunity to be a part of a community celebration such as this.

"The Christmas Light Festival is a fantastic event that brings everyone together in the spirit of Christmas every year."

The Ark T Centre will get £1,720 for a 12-minute performance called Stardust and Snowflakes at the University of Oxford Natural History Museum in Parks Road on November 21 and 22.

Magdalen Road Studios has been awarded £1,890 to work with Pegasus Theatre to create a 'Pop Up' festival called Streetlight from 11am to 5pm on November 22 and 23.

And Arts at the Old Fire Station has been awarded £1,090 for programming an 'Artistic Take away' containing starters, main and dessert in Gloucester Green on November 21 and 22.

The Christmas Light Festival is co-ordinated by Oxford City Council and management company Ian Nolan Events.

Blueprint for Vale's 14,000 homes given last approval

VALE of White Horse District Council s housing plan is at its final hurdle and will be sent for government approval in the New Year

The Vale s Local Plan 2031 was agreed by 29 votes to 21 at a full council meeting at The Beacon, Portway, Wantage, last Wednesday, October 10

It details where 13 960 of the Vale s required 20 560 homes by 2031 will be located and will be open for a six week consultation from November 7

Vale officers will then collate the responses and send the plan to the Secretary of State of independent examination by early February 2015

By Jack Johnson
jack@oxfordnewspapers.co.uk

District council leader Matthew Barber said, "There were plenty of members of the public who were very concerned about the detail of the plan

"We have taken some very difficult decisions and I am very pleased we have got to this landmark stage

"The consultation takes us to the middle of December

"Then although we don t respond to those consultations there is still some technical work that needs to be done so it is likely to be late January or early February that it gets sent to the inspector"

Among the sites allocated for housing are the 2 550 home development at Valley Park in Harwell, 2,500 estate at Grove Airfield as well as sites at Crab Hill in Grove (1 500 homes) and north of Abingdon (300)

The local plan has sparked much debate among residents

Harwell Parish Council chairman Devid Marsh described planned 5 000 new homes in and around the village as a "depressing situation"

Abingdon Town Council leader Sandy Lovatt told the Oxfordshire Guardian he was not "overjoyed" by the numbers but said the Vale has a "duty to make provisions"

Wantage and Grove Campaign Group leader Julie Mabberley spoke of last week s meeting

She said, "The Local Plan is worthy of a communist regime where the "party" imposes its will on the people and not of a rural district in the South East of England where the government espouses "localism""

Also included in the plan is the safeguarding of various land for transport schemes which include the dualling of the A4130, a bridge connecting Valley Park with former Didcot A power station and a Thames crossing near Appleton.

A relief road west of Wantage towards Challow has also been included in the local plan

Business case for train line

A BUSINESS plan is to be put together backing a campaign to re open the Oxford to Bristol train line and Grove Station.

It was agreed at last week's full council meeting that Vale of White Horse District Council officers would compile commercial evidence supporting the plan

Wantage MP Ed Vaizey and Abingdon MP Nicola Blackwood joined forces with 8 other MPs this month in a bid to resurrect the train line – which would take trains past Grove meaning the old station could be reopened.

Matthew Barber said, "There is already a lot of activity on this so this is just an extra little bit to see the Vale can do to support it"

The motion agreed last Wednesday was put forward by councillor Bob Johnston seconded by councillor Jenney Hannaby for Wantage.

Cllr Hannaby added "I am extremely pleased it is recognised at long last that it is essential to have the station with all the houses being built Wantage and Grove are taking all the pain with the house – as well as Harwell which has been bashed."

Wantage relief road

VALE leader Matthew Barber says the district council has the money for a new £15million eastern Wantage relief road

Wantage councillor Jenny Hannaby asked Cllr Barber whether funding for the link road had been secured at a full council meeting at The Beacon Portway, last Wednesday October 15

The road, which would run from the A338 Mably Road to the A417 towards Didcot, is hoped to ease traffic from the 1 500 home Crab Hill estate

Cllr Barber said the road would be built in three sections with the Vale funding the middle section and Crab Hill developers Lend Improvement Holdings building either side

He added, "We have got contributions amounting to almost that sum from both developers and from the local infrastructure fund"

However Cllr Hannaby said "I was not convinced by his answer I just need to be told this chunk is from the government, this is from the developers"

Meanwhile Abingdon councillor Pat Lonergan asked Cllr Barber about the breakdown of funding for new £13 3m slip roads at Lodge Hill.

Cllr Barber said Vale is seeking funding from the Local Enterprise Partnership and 1 000 homes in the local plan will fund £5m of the project

Two multi-million pound A34 road projects clash

By Jack Johnson
jackjohnson@newspapers.co.uk

MULTI MILLION pound plans to build new slip roads at Chilton Interchange will begin in the New Year, clashing with works to turn Milton Interchange into a 'hamburger' roundabout.

A business plan for the £11million project to build north facing slip roads at the junction was approved at an Oxfordshire County Council cabinet meeting in New Road on Tuesday.

County council leader Ian Hudspeth and director for environment and economy Sue Scane will now find a contractor for the project.

David Nimmo Smith, cabinet member for Transport, said the work would begin in January – at the same time road works will come into effect for the £10million project only 3·9miles down the road at Milton.

However Cllr Nimmo Smith said work at Chilton would not have as much impact as most of it will be done to the side of the carriageway.

"There will be little bits to sort out locally but essentially all the work is off road," he added.

"It will run in parallel with works at Milton.

• Work to build north facing slip roads at Chilton Interchange mirroring these south-facing will start in January

Changes at Chilton Interchange which currently only has south facing slip roads will connect the A34 with the A4185 Newbury Road and Hagbourne Hill.

The project will be half funded by the Department for Transport's Local Pinch Point Funding.

Cllr Nimmo Smith continued: "I know we are improving capacity at Milton but by putting the new slip roads at Chilton we will be improving the capacity overall.

"This will be a win-win at the end of the day."

Improvement works at the interchange looked in doubt last month after Chilton Parish Council, a statutory consultee, objected to the plans.

The objection would have led to a public enquiry but it was dropped ahead of last Tuesday's cabinet meeting after discussions with the county council.

Meanwhile Cllr Nimmo Smith said works at Milton Interchange which are expected to begin on Monday October 27 are still going to plan.

He added: "Some of the service provision will be starting and then the road works will start at the beginning of next year."

Local plan scrutiny

CHERWELL District Council's local plan will go before the Government for a second time after councillors voted in favour of the revised version.

At a full council meeting at Bodicote House in Banbury on Monday, the local plan which sets out sites to locate 22,800 homes between 2011 and 2031 was voted through.

If approved the plan could be implemented from the beginning of next year.

It will now go to the Government Planning Inspector who sent the local plan back to the district council in January, as it only accommodated 16,750 homes and did not meet Oxfordshire's Strategic Housing Market Assessment.

Planning officers have since reviewed over 500 sites and the revised plan proposes 7,319 homes for Banbury, 10,129 homes in Bicester and 5,392 to be built across Kidlington and rural areas.

Michael Gibbard, lead member for planning, said: "Cherwell is not responsible for setting housing targets but it is responsible for meeting them.

"What this document does is look at where these houses could go so there is some structure to developments rather than risking homes being built sporadically across the area.

"Having reviewed the local plan to meet the requirements of the SHMA councillors are in agreement that the named development sites do meet the Government's planning guidelines laid out for acceptable housing locations."

New leader of district council announced

JOHN Catton will take South Oxfordshire District Council into next year's elections after being formally chosen as its new leader last week.

Cllr Catton, ward member for Sandford, replaces Ann Ducker as leader of the council and Conservative group after she died of cancer last month.

The Conservative group voted for Cllr Catton over Anna Haddock as its new leader in a secret ballot on October 14.

Chairman of the group Malcolm Leonard proposed Cllr Catton to be leader of the council and he was elected unopposed at a full council meeting in Benson Lane, Crowmarsh, on October 16.

Cllr Catton said he was "excited by the prospect" of becoming leader.

He added: "As it has been said it is going to be a challenge to fill these (Ann Ducker's) shoes but I shall have a damn good try.

"I hope that myself and my colleagues in the new cabinet give cause for the whole council to say a job well done when we get to May 2015."

By Jack Johnson
jack.johnson@newspapers.co.uk

Rev Angie Paterson has been chosen as the council's deputy leader, while Cllr Catton has also added three new members to the cabinet, including himself.

He will be the cabinet member for corporate strategy, economic development, and Wallingford.

While Will Hall (Finance and Henley) and Robert Simister (Property, Technical Services and Southern Parishes) have been added to the cabinet.

Cllr Catton has added new portfolios for towns and areas across the district.

Originally only Didcot had a cabinet member but now Wallingford, Thame, Henley, northern, central and southern parishes will also have elected members.

Mrs Ducker held the portfolio for Didcot and therefore Hill Service, who is also on the town council, will hold that position as well as his current Leisure responsibility.

Cllr Cotton said: "Members will recognise that previously Didcot was named as a cabinet portfolio.

"Clearly Bill will carry that on superbly well but I think it is also right that the other towns and indeed the parishes have a single point of contact within the cabinet for policy issues they may have a concern with.

"I will be expecting those cabinet members to be taking an over arching view on all policy issues that we have across the council and as they relate specifically to their patches."

• New SODC leader John Cotton

SODC's new cabinet:

John Cotton – Corporate Strategy, Economic Development and Wallingford

Angie Paterson – Planning Policy, Customer Services

Anna Badcock – Housing

David Dodds – Waste and Thame

Elizabeth Gillespie – Development/Building Control, Grants and Northern Parishes

Will Hall – Finance and Henley

Bill Service – Leisure and Didcot

Lynn Lloyd – IT, HR, Legal and Democratic Services

Judith Nimma-Smith – Health, Community Safety and Central Parishes

Councillors pay respects to former South Oxfordshire leader

TRIBUTES poured in for the former leader of South Oxfordshire District Council Ann Ducker at last week's first full meeting since she died last month.

Mrs Ducker (pictured) 71 who lived at South Stoke Farm near Wallingford was suffering with cancer for most of this year and died on September 21.

She became leader in 2003 and had been a district councillor for 31 years after she was elected to office in 1983 as the ward member for Goring.

She had a big interest in agriculture and ran a family business with husband.

New leader John Cotton said at the meeting held on October 16 that he intends to seek for posthumous aldermanship for Mrs Ducker and also wishes to set up a bursary in her name to help young people become involved in public service.

He added: "Ann will be missed by all members and indeed officers on this council and I think that says a huge amount for what she has done for us."

Leader of the Labour group Eleanor Hards said: "Obviously didn't share her politics but she was always fair and we knew where we stood with her."

David Turner leader of the Lib Dems added: "I have always had great respect for Ann and I am going to miss her very much."

Independent councillor Neville Harris said Mrs Ducker had "a glare that would derail a train" and "a smile that would melt an iceberg".

He added: "I had no trouble with the glare...it encouraged me rather than deterred me, but the smile so often came to get me off the rails I had to use all my fortitude to stay on them."

By Katriona Ormiston

FROM this Saturday wheelchair-bound army veteran Robert Newton will mark 25 years of selling outside Wantage s Waitrose 10 hours a day for 13 days.

Every year the 63 year old from Grove, sets up camp outside the town centre store to sell poppies for the duration of the Poppy Appeal.

The UK wide Royal British Legion (RBL) charity effort raises money for injured troops in the British Armed Forces selling the poppy pins until Remembrance Day on November 9

Mr Newton — an army veteran who served in Northern Ireland in 1972 — said "I can t do much more than I do I sit there for almost 12 hours a day

"We really need people to give generously because we need to look after troops and their families — especially with Afghanistan, a lot of people need help

"I don t mind it really you get a lot of people who come up to say 'you must be freezing' but I like that you can have a laugh or a joke with them."

Last year Wantage raised £18 222 for the charity to help pay for rehab and recovery centers among other projects

Oxfordshire county councillor Jenny Hannaby has taken over as Wantage s poppy appeal organiser from former RAF Group Captain David Drew

She said "It was a great honour to follow in David s footsteps as the Wantage Branch Poppy Appeal organiser I hope to build on his success"

Mr Drew added "The RBL is sometimes seen as an old man s organisation but in today s world with conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan we do more work these days for the young rather than the old"

About 30 volunteers usually help out selling poppies around Wantage

To join in the charity effort or become a volunteer email coolaci details jenny@yeomanryhouse co.uk or call 01235 772778

ON Friday October 10 it was World Mental Health Day, where all of us are encouraged to reflect on challenges posed by mental illness both for sufferers themselves and also their families and for our wider community

One in four of us will suffer from mental illness in over the course of our lifetimes and the number is rising.

Mental ill health is undoubtedly one of the biggest challenges our country faces and yet mental health services have suffered greatly from the Tory Lib Dem Governments NHS cuts and reorganisation

Vulnerable people including children are forced to travel hundreds of miles in search of a bed

Mental health funding is being cut more deeply than the rest of the NHS whilst waiting times for talking therapies have got longer

We need a determined effort both to reverse the barrage of cuts that are currently facing our services and to take mental health services out of the dark ages

I am actively engaged at the moment in challenging the very damaging proposed cuts to the complex needs service here in Oxfordshire

The cuts which amount to a staggering l wo thirds of existing funding are amongst the most savage and damaging cuts our county has faced in recent years

They would have devastating consequences for mentally ill people their families and for our wider community

As a result the local NHS Trust forecasts a 1 200 increase in suicidal acts with severe implications for human suffering and loss of life not to mention increased demands on existing services

I am always happy to help my constituents wherever I can

Historic town hall to become business hub

By Kelly Lea
news@tajlornewspapers.co.uk

OXFORD Innovation and Oxford City Council have launched a new business and innovation centre in Oxford's Town Hall.

Known as Osney Mead it's part of the council's aim to up the range of office space for start up and small to medium sized businesses in the city centre

The move stems from the council's economic development team who conducted a review of business accommodation available in Oxford to support the city's increasing number of innovative start ups and university spin out companies

Chris Allington MD of Oxford Innovation – the UK's leading operator of business and innovation centres – said "We are delighted to form a partnership with Oxford City Council which will provide fantastic support to local businesses in Oxford City's prestigious and historic Town Hall.

"The location is a very attractive proposition for any ambitious business that is looking for an impressive base with the flexibility to grow"

One St Aldates can support up to 16 growing companies in 6 000 sq ft of serviced offices available from 75 sq ft to 1 170 sq ft

Leader of the city council Bob Price said "The city council's economic development strategy identified the need for more starter units as a key element in sustaining the city's rapid employment growth over the past decade and the starter unit review report stimulated our plans to convert the Carfax block from its former use as offices for council staff into a focus for innovation activity"

One St Aldates was marketed on behalf of the Council by VSL & Partners

Director Richard Venables said "One St Aldates was an unusual building because it was sub divided into so many smaller rooms and split over four floors

"It ideally suits a serviced office function and given its central location should be very popular"

Solar panels on business parks

IN THIS month's guest column Robyn Fibuch from Jennings – who run business parks and centres in Oxfordshire – on their latest solar installation

We're pleased to announce that the Hampden House and Ashgrove House buildings on our Monument Park site in Chalgrove have now been fitted with photovoltaic (PV) solar panels

At Jennings we're always looking for new ways to invest in renewable energy and improve our green credentials

Having seen the benefits of installing PV panels on the roof of unit 37 Monument Park last year we decided to expand the project to our serviced office buildings

As before we worked with renewable energy specialists EnergyMyWay to complete the project with the installation taking just over a week.

We can now produce electricity with reduced carbon emissions for these buildings and should see our bills significantly reduced through generating a large proportion of our own electricity

And the best part is any electricity that is surplus to requirements is exported back to the National Grid giving us alternative income

Display screens have been fitted in Hampden House reception and the entrance to Ashgrove House which show exactly how much electricity is being generated and how much CO2 is being saved

So far we have saved more than 300kg of carbon in Hampden House alone in just one week

These three buildings should save around 65 tonnes of CO2 each year plus generate enough electricity to power the equivalent of more than 30 homes

Rocking out at the O2

By James Richings
jamesr@oxfordmessenger.co.uk

BRITISH punk rock band The Subways will be rocking out at Cowley Road's O2 Academy next Friday, October 31.

The threesome from Hertfordshire have been together since the early 2000s and launched their latest tour this month.

They have dates in Barcelona, Paris and Amsterdam set up over the next few months.

Guitarist and co-vocalist Billy Lunn told the Oxfordshire Guardian: "We've played at the O2 Academy in Oxford before and it's always been an amazing gig for us.

"We all cannot wait to go back.

"When we perform we like to get a little raucous and sweaty but more importantly we just love to have fun.

"Hopefully we'll have the room smiling and crowd surfing in no time!"

Since their formation, the rockers have released three studio albums, all three of which peaked in the UK Album Charts.

Their last album, Money and Celebrity was released in 2011 sparking speculation another could be on the cards.

Lunn confirmed: "The new album will be officially released in February 2015 but if you pre-order now you get the first six tracks straight away.

"We just couldn't wait for people to hear our new stuff."

Lunn then added: "I don't think we'll ever get to number one, but that's not such a bad thing.

"We just consider ourselves so lucky to even be able to pick up our guitars and drum sticks every day and have a room full of crazy folks to play and sing to.

"Writing songs whilst rocking out is more than enough to keep us happy!"

He added: "I would love to collaborate with Tegan and Sara.

"They have written some amazing songs it would be an honour to jam with those guys!"

Tickets cost £11.50 for a 6.30pm start.

The music of The Willows

FOLK band The Willows are performing at the Old Fire Station on Tuesday, October 28.

Formed back in 2010 and originally from Cambridge, the group are in Oxford on their autumn tour. Amidst Fiery Skies' promoting their latest album with the same name.

Co-vocalist Jade Rhiannon, who also plays the Shruti Box – an organ-like Indian instrument, said: "We have heard great things about the venue and really look forward to playing our music there.

"We are a folk band with a heavy influence from both the English and American folk tradition.

"I think our audience can anticipate a mixture of songs from emotive ballads to foot stompers."

She added: "We shall be playing a lot of the new songs from our new album as well as a number from out first album 'Beneath Our Humble Soil' which came out last year."

By James Richings
james.r@oxfordmail.co.uk

During the summer the band performed at number of festivals including Glastonbury and The Warwick Folk Festival.

After a 10 day break, they were back on their feet, touring all over the country.

Rhiannon said: The Willows have been enjoying a tight schedule reasonably.

"It has been very busy but we love writing and playing," she added.

"When we are not busy with The Willows you'll find most of us still playing music, or making cider or jam."

When asked if the band are shooting for a number one in the UK charts Rhiannon joked: "To be honest I can't see it happening in the mainstream charts unless we collaborate with someone like Rihanna or write the Christmas advert for John Lewis!"

The gig is due to start at 8pm, with tickets costing £10.

Choosing a home takes less time than watching Doctor Who

Home buyers admit they made up their mind to buy their current property before they had even seen it in real life according to a major new report from Barratt Homes

Homebuyers spend an average of just under 45 minutes viewing a house or flat before making up their minds And with the average West Midlands home currently costing around £160 000 (House Price Index 2013) this works out as a decision cost equating to a staggering £4,239 per minute

The findings come from The Barratt Homes "21st Century Living Heads Hearts and Homes Report" which reveals that the main reasons people from the West Midlands don't spend longer viewing a property include

Pressure from estate agents (named by 27%)

Uncertainty as to how to arrange a further viewing (named by 16%)

Simply having a lack of time (named by 3%)

This approach has an emotional effect on homebuyers leaving people feeling stressed and worried

The average time spent viewing a home in the West Midlands equates to the time it takes to watch an episode of the BBC s Doctor Who hit series

Adrian Farr of Barratt Homes West Midlands said: "Purchasing a property whether for the first time or the tenth time, is a major life investment It's really important for the buyer to be 100% happy and confident in their decision But rushing this decision can and should be avoided Considering a new build home is one way to do this new build homes offer customers the opportunity to view a new property they're interested in as many times as they like without feeling pressured or rushed "

Oxford Student Homes 2015 – just wait and see

MARTIN&CO

Hello Students!

It is that time of year again when we welcome hundreds of aspiring academics to our shores all gearing up for student life and top of the to do list will commonly be to secure a property for the first term

Contrary to differing opinions between letting agencies experience tells us to issue our student list early to cater for the huge demand anticipated and the best and most sincere advice we can offer to students is to do exactly the same The conventional theory of 'first come, first served' has never been more appropriate with students scrambling between each other to secure the very best properties on offer

Martin and Co Oxford will be releasing their Student 2015/16 list from the 20th October and we expect big interest in what we have to offer Such is the demand for this year that there is already a demand for our list

As a taster of what is about to follow here are two of our typical student properties that can be found within the 'Golden Triangle' and within touching distance of Oxford Brookes University or alternatively right in the heart of Cowley for the bars restaurants and nightlife

DRIVEWAY RENOVATION

We also provide a block driveway renovation service. If you have a driveway that's looking a little worse for wear and you don't want to go the whole way and replace it, simply give us a call and we can come and restore it to its former glory.

We employ a simple three stage renovation process when restoring old driveways: clean, sand and seal. The first stage is a straightforward cleaning of your driveway removing any accumulated grime and rejuvenating the paving. After this we sweep sand across your driveway to fill the grooves between the blocks restoring the evenness and uniformity of your driveway. Finally, when renovating non-permeable driveways we apply a waterproofing sealant, which aids and directs water runoff and drainage.

Homes, Gardens & Interiors

IT'S amazing to think that we are now at the end of October and 2014 is coming to an end. This year is flying by.

Conkers, golden leaves and the crisp air are just some of the things that we have seen over the last weeks as the winter closes in.

So when it gets colder the majority of us will be staying inside, trying to think of multiple ways of keeping warm.

Along with keeping warm, you might be thinking of ways to redesign your home, garden or interior.

You might think that the TV stand is out of touch with the living room and needs replacing. With Christmas in a couple of month's time, you might be considering a new dining room table to have your scrumptious Christmas dinner on. You might be pondering over a new shed, to liven up your garden throughout the winter months.

There are plenty of things to consider as we come to close the year.

So to help you with your homes, gardens and interior dilemmas we spoke to a few businesses in Oxfordshire, to see what they can offer.

Oxford Doors and Security

OXFORD Ironmangery the door hardware specialist have expanded with the opening of a new shop selling timber doors in Marlson, Oxford.

The new outlet called Oxford Doors & Security will display beautiful internal and external timber doors in a realistic setting.

The showroom is the only one of it's kind in the area and builds on Oxford Ironmongery's 33 years of experience in the door hardware market.

As well as aesthetics of the doors themselves our trained and experienced staff will be on hand to advise customers with their security safety and accessibility requirements.

The showroom displays a full range of glazed, semi glazed and unglazed doors in contemporary and traditional designs which is all natural timber.

The full range of stylish door furniture for which Oxford Ironmongery is well known for, will also be on show with special security products also being selected to keep homes safe and secure.

Julian Newman Director of Oxford Ironmongery is convinced that customers will be pleasantly surprised by the doors on display at the new Oxford Door and Security shop.

Mr Newman said "The timber door offering has really come on in leaps and bounds over the last few years and these doors are now manufactured to engineering standards.

Julian then added "The old contraction and expansion issues are long gone, the modern timber door is made in a technically advanced factory where attention to detail is the absolute norm.

Our Dining Room Design Ideas

The dining room is our favourite room in the house by far It s such a social hub, a room that brings friends and family together

Your dining room design needs to be versatile enough to allow for quick weeknight dinners, long Sunday lunches with the family and dinner dates with friends that go into the early hours of the following day

The dining room is nothing if not the heart of your home If you are looking for dining room design ideas with pine or oak dining room furniture, follow our tips to make your space look completely divine with just a few simple changes

Our pine dining tables look spectacular against muted tones and sand coloured textiles whether it be curtains, chair backs or table covers

Make your own dining room paradise and use bamboo place mats, vases with leafy arrangements and adorn the walls with holiday snaps, travel souvenirs or maybe even a map of the world Designing your dining room is a chance for you to get really personal with the style of your home

If you keep your dining rooms for formal use, it's a great idea to try and keep the table set all the time, it looks impressive and gives a vibe of grandeur and exclusivity – the ideal combination for elegant dining room design

Another fantastic dining room design idea is to contrast the wood against white chairs and white walls, but add a splash of colour with multicoloured accessories

We love how this dining design jumps out and grabs you from the second you walk through the door Another emerging dining room trend that is taking the decor world by storm this year is purposely-mismatched chairs

Mix colours, sizes and styles or if you are just beginning to dabble with your dining room colour scheme, match the chairs to each other but not the table for a Subtle dining room design can give you an equally delightful dining space For starters, all you need for some gorgeous dining room design is a statement dining room table This will form the foundations of the room and you can always add more decorative pieces and stylish effects over time

Simple touches such as interesting light fixtures and feature walls are easy to do, plus they never really go out of fashion. If all else fails, a statement fruit bowl or candelabra instantly makes a room look homely and lived in

So for somewhere to serve up delicious dinners and sumptuous suppers come and see us and we'll get you dining in style in no time

We're located in both Bicester and Banbury so give us a ring on 01869 243 564 (Bicester) or on 01295 277 244 (Banbury)

Oakcraft Traditional Oak Buildings

OAKCRAFT of Holmsley Mill are experts at creating traditional oak frame buildings

We specialise in modular and bespoke designed oak framed structures ranging from simple garages and garden rooms to complex bespoke projects We also design craft and assemble oak frame buildings nationally and internationally Along with our own oak designs we have patented their own jointing system, which is not only stronger than traditional jointing techniques but offers space saving advantages when designing upper floored buildings

One thing about Oakcraft is that we are very happy to assist with your project from conception to completion. We will offer a planning application service and design facilities in the comfort of your own home or at our Principal Office

When agreeing to use Oakcraft there will be a number of procedures to follow

- Always arrange an informal meeting with the planners to expose any potential problems, prior to submission.
- Traditional Oak framed buildings are often welcomed as planners understand that you are taking care and thought over your project
- Green Oak framing is a specialist form of construction Ensure that you employ a reputable company with a proven track record
- As always when comparing quotations from companies, ask for the specification Check sectional sizes of structural timbers and the specification of any doors and windows
- Ensure your structural calculations are prepared to the new wind code BS 6399 This takes into account the altitude of your building as well as the locality Required sectional sizes can vary greatly within the same village

Holmsley Mill is located near Burley in the heart of The New Forest This is where the frame is crafted

Citroën C4 Cactus Airflow 2L

REVIEW Citroën C4 Cactus Airflow 2L

By James Richings

WITH a comparable design to the Citroen Xsara and mechanically similar to the Peugeot 308 the Citroen C4models have had a fair amount of success since its introduction 10 years ago.

The first generation of the C4 finished in second place at the 2005 European Car of the Year Award with the Citroen C4 Picasso finishing third in the same competition two years later

The vehicle has also sold over one million units worldwide since 2009

So to add to the C4 club the French manufacturer has announced the brand new Citroen C4 Cactus AIRFLOW 2L available to buy

The C4 Cactus AIRFLOW 2L project was undertaken as part of the "2l/100 km vehicle" programme set up by the Plateforme de la Filiere Automobile industry group in France

The objective is to reduce the impact of vehicle running costs on household expenditure and to reduce the eco footprint of car travel.

The Citroen C4 Cactus already boasts a range of features designed to reduce fuel consumption with its smooth design efficient engine and technologies selected to reduce vehicle weight

The production C4 Cactus is 200kg lighter than the Citroen C4 hatchback and the C4 Cactus AIRFLOW 2L concept shaves off another100kg cutting the weight of the concept by 11 per cent compared with the production car

The production C4 Cactus ranks among the best in its segment with CO2 emissions from 82g/km and fuel consumption starting at just 91 1mpg.

And the C4 Cactus AIRFLOW 2L goes further by adopting a Hybrid Air drivetrain—the technology presented by the PSA Peugeot Citroen Group in January 2013 and featured on a Citroen C3 at the 2013 Geneva Motor Show

This includes a three-cylinder PureTech petrol engine, a compressed air energy storage unit a hydraulic pump/motor unit and an automatic transmission with an epicyclic gear train

An electronic management system manages input from the driver to optimise energy efficiency

The latest C4 Cactus Airflow 2L costs from £12,900

Welsh look to break duck against Begles

LONDON Welsh head coach Justin Burnell is desperate to give the home fans something to cheer about when the Exiles go against the Bordeaux Begles tonight

After losing the opening six fixtures in the Aviva Premiership this season, Saturday's 28-18 defeat to Lyon in the European Rugby Challenge Cup made it seven straight defeats for Burnell's men.

And the Exiles boss says Welsh simply have to win in their second Challenge Cup fixture

Burnell said: "We've got to get a win and that's what we'll be fighting for whole be artedly to get – we have to get a win at home

"They're an excellent team and they've picked up some fantastic results so far this season, but we're back at the Kassam Stadium.

On Saturday the Exiles were 21-3 down at the Matmut Stadium just 29 minutes after tries from Ricky Januarie and Franck Romanet, although the visitors recovered brilliantly to reduce the deficit to just three points before Seru Sukanaveita's crucial try

Despite a seventh straight loss

By Dan Church
news@oxfordnewspapers.co.uk

Burnell was encouraged by his team's attitude.

He added: "There's been a lot of disappointment over the last couple of weeks but the players come out in typical London Welsh spirit and rolled their sleeves up

"We're a little bit disappointed with the first three tries we gave away-but then we clawed it back to 21-18 and I genuinely thought we could have won the game.

"Our set piece was fantastic It was so dominant

"In 30 degree heat and in front of 8,503 home supporters baying for blood we didn't crumble once

"When people ask me how the mood in the camp is I say it's good they're up for the challenge and they're positive People must look at me a bit strange, but it's true

"Of course we're disappointed, but it's a good place to be The boys are dying for the cause

"We've learnt a lot in the first six games in the Aviva Premiership and we've got to new progress on."

City beaten by Lowestoft and slip to fourth in league table

FIRST half goals from Jake Reed and Chris Henderson saw Oxford City go down to a 2-1 defeat at Lowestoft Town in Vanarama Conference North last Saturday

The defeat leaves Justin Merritt's side fourth in the table but they are now seven points behind league leaders AFC Fylde

City started well against Lowestoft with Kynan Isaac heading home Paul Stonebouse's cross on 15 minutes

And Merritt's side could have made it 2-0 but Alejandro Adrian Santiago was brilliantly denied before Darren Mullings headed wide

However Lowestoft found a way back into the game on 34 minutes as Reed fired past debutant Nathan Abbey in the City goal

And the hosts ended the first half in the lead as Henderson made it 2-1 on 44 minutes

Abbey kept City in the game in the second half as Lowestoft emerged from the break the better side and the game was put beyond them on 74 minutes as Santiago was sent off.

City will be looking to put an end to their current two match winless run when they welcome Hednesford Town to Marsh Lane on Saturday

Ferguson optimistic as Exiles welcome Bordeaux

LONDON Welsh assistant coach Matt Ferguson is in an upbeat mood ahead of tonight's European Rugby Challenge Cup tie against Bordeaux Begles at the Kassam Stadium.

The Exiles were beaten 28-18 by Lyon in their first game in Pool 4 on Saturday but it was a much improved performance in comparison to recent weeks

Welsh are on a seven match winless run in all competitions including six defeats to start their Aviva Premiership campaign

But Ferguson who admits Welsh haven't delivered a complete performance yet this season believes a win is not far away

He said: "From what I have seen in the last couple of weeks I think we could be pretty close tonight

"What is happening now is people are becoming more in tune with the pace and the physicality that we need

"If you look at our European pool, Lyon was a premiership standard fixture so there is still loads to work on

"But it is pleasing that we did make a few changes and those boys just slotted into the system."

HYLTON: THE UNITED HERO

Fans give thumbs up to top scorer's consistency for the Yellows

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

HOT SHOT Danny Hylton says he is happy to have won over Oxford United's fans after his quick fire brace helped the U's to a 3-1 win over Northampton Town on Tuesday.

The 25-year-old forward who is now joint top scorer in Sky Bet League Two with eight goals has netted 10 times in all competitions this season.

When he was brought in by former boss Gary Waddock in the summer many U's supporters compared Hylton to the outgoing James Constable, whose 106 goals for the club saw him become a fans' favourite.

However it has taken Hylton little time to make an impact at the Kassam Stadium.

"I'm delighted to have got 10 goals so soon and I will just keep trying to work hard for the team" he said.

"If I keep getting goal scoring opportunities then I will keep trying to take them."

Hylton added "I'm very happy to have won the fans over.

"Constable was here before and I got reminded about it everyday when I signed.

"He did great for the club but I'm some one totally different.

"I'm just delighted to have come in and show what I can do and I'll keep trying to do that."

United recorded their first away win of the season with victory over Northampton.

It didn't start well for Michael Appleton's side as Enda Stevens put the Cobblers ahead on four minutes.

However United rallied and Hylton headed home Danny Rose's cross on 25 minutes before putting Oxford in front from the penalty spot just moments later.

And Alfie Potter's deflected cross eluded the stranded Jordan Archer on 50 minutes to give United a 3-1 lead and the win.

Head coach Appleton was delighted with the win which came despite five of his players suffering with sickness before and during the game.

"Four of five of them were being sick at half-time so that was a bit of a concern" he said.

"Andy Whing was actually being sick before the game so to go through the match as he did was fantastic."

United go to Carlisle United on Saturday hoping for a third successive win.
